

Fence Haven Partners With Hearth to Offer Payment Plans

August 10, 2026

KNOXVILLE, TN - August 10, 2026 -

Fence Haven, a family-owned fencing company serving the Knoxville area, has partnered with home-improvement financing platform Hearth to give homeowners the option to pay for fence installation through monthly payments rather than one upfront cost. The company added the option to make yard projects easier to fit around a household budget.

Cost is one of the most common reasons homeowners put off a fence they already know they need. Across its first year of projects in the Knoxville area, Fence Haven has found that the decision often comes down to timing rather than desire, with families waiting until a lump sum is available before moving forward. The Hearth option is meant to remove that delay by spreading the cost of a project over time.

Through Hearth, homeowners can request financing from the Fence Haven website and, if approved, put the funds toward their installation. The process runs online and does not affect the project schedule, so a homeowner who qualifies can begin work on the same timeline as a customer paying in full. Fence Haven does not handle the financing itself. Hearth is a third-party platform that connects homeowners with financing partners.

Choosing to spread out payments does not change the scope of the work. A financed project receives the same materials, the same layout, and the same two-year workmanship guarantee as one paid in full. Fence Haven designs each fence line to close the gaps and escape routes dogs exploit, sets posts in high-strength concrete, and marks underground utilities before any digging begins.

The option matters most to the households that make up the core of the company's work. Roughly 80 percent of Fence Haven's business comes from dog owners who want a secure yard, and for many of those families the fence is a safety purchase rather than a cosmetic one. Monthly payments give a homeowner with a dog that keeps getting out a way to solve the problem sooner, instead of relying on a leash or keeping the dog indoors while they save up. The company installs vinyl, ornamental aluminum, wood, ranch rail and chain link fencing across Knoxville, Farragut, Maryville and the surrounding communities, and the payment option applies to any of those materials.

Fence Haven is owner-operated, licensed and insured, and holds a 5.0 rating across 250 Google reviews earned since it opened in June 2025. The company completes most residential projects in two to four days.

The payment option also fits how the company already operates. Fence Haven schedules estimates on weekends, when most families are home, and answers its phone outside standard business hours. Extending that to how a project gets paid for was the next step, the company said, since cost is what stalls homeowners most often.

"Most people don't wait on a fence because they don't want one. They wait because writing one check for the whole thing is hard, especially when the reason they need it is a dog that already found the gap in the old one," said Logan Tharp, owner of Fence Haven. "Giving them a way to spread it out means the dog gets a safe yard this month instead of next spring."
